WEBINAR INVITE:
OSHA Recordkeeping Electronic Submission Requirements for 2026

Are You Ready for OSHA's 2025 Recordkeeping Submission Season?

As OSHA recordkeeping submission season approaches, companies nationwide are preparing their 2025 records to meet the Department of Labor's electronic submission and posting requirements.

With company injury and illness data now going live for the public to see, submitting accurate data has never been more critical. This year is especially important—it marks the second year under OSHA's expanded submission rules, requiring many employers to submit data from all three OSHA forms directly to OSHA between January 1 and March 2, 2026.

Topics Addressed During the Webinar:

- ✔ Could you be over-reporting?
- ✔ Will you have to submit data from all three forms?
- ✔ Are you submitting for the correct locations?
- ✔ Do you know your DART rate—and why it's more critical than ever?

Dustin Boss, creator of OSHAlogs, will guide you through these updated rules and provide actionable steps to ensure your organization stays compliant.

As a special bonus, attendees will receive a guided overview of OSHAlogs-a dynamic recordkeeping and injury-intelligence platform built to keep you compliant with the latest requirements.

Bonus: Attendees receive free access to OSHAlogs!
